

Amadys is a leading company in providing passive equipment for the telecom and energy sector.

Our networks connect people. And when it comes to bringing people together, nothing but the best will do. We strongly believe in the power of unified expertise. This is why we proactively co-develop ideas with our partners to deliver the highest possible quality in all our work. From using the best components and materials to top-notch network design and engineering. Thanks to our extensive know-how, we realize highly reliable networks that require little maintenance. At Amadys, we shape tomorrow, today.

We are active in Austria, Belgium (HQ), Denmark, Germany, Hungary, Slovakia, The Netherlands and United Kingdom.
